

Summary

Hopefully from the videos you've learnt:

- What the operating system is, and its role in a modern computer
- The history of Unix
- What the kernel is
- What processes are and what they are made up of
- Why context switching slows down our programs, and how we can minimise how many occur
- What system calls are, and how user processes use them